SHORT BIOGRAPHY

> Indrajit Mahajan is an Agile Delivery Leader, speaker, consultant and the author of Lead the Outcome: A Practitioner's Guide to NewGen Project Management. FULL BIOGRAPHY

Indrajit Mahajan is an Agile Delivery Leader, speaker, consultant and author based in Pune, India. Over more than 20 years in technology, including 12+ years in project management, he has led enterprise delivery across the UK, Europe, Singapore, Dubai and India: from enterprise PLM programs on PTC Windchill and IBM Maximo for marine and shipping clients to cloud transformation across AWS, Azure and Google Cloud. His experience includes Emirates Group IT in Dubai and Presidio.

His book, Lead the Outcome: A Practitioner's Guide to NewGen Project Management (Notion Press, 2025), argues that a project is measured by the outcome it delivers, not the activity it generates. That idea runs through his training programs, his consulting work with delivery teams, and Udarka AI, the AI delivery coach he built for project managers.

Indrajit holds more than ten professional certifications, including PMP, PRINCE2, CSM and ITIL 4, alongside Microsoft, Google Cloud, AWS and Oracle cloud credentials. He speaks on the future of project management, rethinking Agile, leadership beyond designations, and how AI is reshaping the profession.

Why so many Agile adoptions keep the ceremonies but lose the results, and what it takes to make Agile hold up under real delivery pressure.

Leadership as a behaviour, not a job title: how anyone on a team can take ownership, influence decisions and move outcomes forward.

04 AI AND THE NEXT GENERATION OF PROJECT MANAGERS

Practical ways AI is already changing planning, reporting and risk management, and how project managers can use it rather than be replaced by it.

05 FROM PROJECT EXECUTION TO OUTCOME LEADERSHIP
